END Survey // Mentoring Connector Program

Thank you for being part of this mentoring cohort. This short survey helps us understand whether mentoring actually supported your development - through the conversations you had, the relationship you built, and what you applied in your work. There are no right answers. Honest feedback helps us improve matching, guidance, and future cohorts. (~4 minutes)

Mentors

Here we look at your experience developing someone else — how you used your skills, adapted your approach, and whether mentoring strengthened your ability to support others' growth. Mentoring should also be developmental for mentors, not only for mentees.

3

Mentoring helped me improve how I support others' growth *

4

I used skills in mentoring that I don't regularly use in my role *

5

I could see a positive impact on my mentee *

6

The time I invested in mentoring felt worthwhile *

7

How has mentoring changed the way you support or interact with others at work? *

Mentees

This section explores how mentoring supported your growth — building clarity, confidence, and practicing the capability you selected at the start. We're especially interested in whether mentoring helped you actively work on the skill, not just talk about it.

8

I now have a clearer understanding of how to practice this skill in my day-to-day work *

9

My mentor helped me clarify what I should focus on developing next *

10

My mentor challenged my perspective rather than just giving answers

11

I actively prepared or reflected between sessions

12

What is something you ended up developing through mentoring that you didn't expect at the start? *

Mentoring experience

These questions focus on the mentoring relationship as a whole — how the conversations worked, whether the time invested felt worthwhile, and if anything from mentoring translated into real work situations. This helps us understand what makes mentoring sustainable and impactful.

13

Mentoring improved how I collaborate or communicate outside my usual team or domain *

14

How well did your mentor–mentee pairing work for you? *

15

I felt comfortable being open during mentoring conversations *

16

How often did you meet? *

17

Around which session did conversations start becoming genuinely useful? *

18

Overall, this mentoring relationship was worth the time invested *

19

It was easy to maintain momentum between sessions *

20

Would you join mentoring again? *

- Yes
- No
- Maybe
